

Pickleball Paddle Review: adidas RX44

So you have decided you want to try and pick up Pickleball. You know the rules, but don't know which paddle to use, or which one fits your game the best. All Racquet Sports is a great source for all of your racquet sport needs including pickleball paddles and other equipments. Below is a product review of the adidas RX44 paddle, which is a great paddle for beginner to intermediate level players.

The adidas RX44 is designed for player's comfort, providing an excellent feeling in all of your shots thanks to its Fiber Glass surface. The High Density Polypropylene core will make shots more powerful in every phase of the game, while the Spin Blade technology adds spin to your most demanding shots.

The paddle is 16 x 8'' and is designed for intermediate players. It weighs in around 7.7 – 8.2 ounces and has a great feel in the player's hand.

Overall, the RX44 provides the best of both worlds, both in terms of comfort in your hand and also the power it allows the player to generate. Check out some testimonials from players who have purchased the paddle and loved it:

“The adidas RX44 is a great paddle for all levels of players. I really like the grip and comfort of the play of the paddle,” said Lynda Rock in a review she wrote on PickleballCentral.Com. “I brought it to a social match of 3.5 players and everyone liked playing with the adidas RX44. We all agreed on the grip comfort, control, and power. The adidas RX44 is a good all around solid paddle.”